HERE'S the POINT!

By SPENCE HELD

A 9-year-old cat learned about hail the hard way Monday.

Mrs. Charles B. Danielson, of 4530 Santa Monica Ave., was talking on the phone about 9:30 a.m., when she became aware of a loud yowling outside.

She carried the phone to the porch and opened the door to admit the yowler.

"What in the world is that?" asked the woman on the other end of the line.

Yeah, the Danielson cat was really sounding off about the shower of icy pellets as she scampered inside the house, her black fur streaked with white.

Sunday afternoon hundreds of people enjoyed the rare combination of sun, rain and wind at Cabrillo National Monument.

The view, stupendous on an ordinary clear day, was enhanced by towering cumulus, black storm clouds, rain squalls and intermittent sunshine.

It wasn't good whale weather —but the visitors from Alabama, Washington, Wisconsin, New Jersey, etc., didn't feel gypped.

Boy, if there's a better view anywhere I ain't interested!

* * *

Our so-called cold weather this week reminded me of the time back in the 1930's when the downtown plaza fountain froze over.

Before the tourists in the U.S. Grant Hotel got up that morning, somebody—maybe a city employee—smashed the ice in the fountain and toted it away in a wheelbarrow.

The tourists would never have been the wiser but for the fact that a newspaper cameraman was out early and his editor spread the evidence on Page One.

Joe Dryer, president of the Heaven on Earth Club, took considerable kidding, as I remember.

* * *

I was intrigued by the following headline Saturday:

2,000 TO ATTEND
KIWANIS PARLEY

The story said that "District 163, Kiwanis International, will hold its 1957 conference Feb. 7-9 in El Cortez Hotel. More than 2,000 delegates from San Diego, Riverside and Imperial counties are expected to attend."

I'm not a Kiwanian but have a clinical interest in such matters, there being two Kiwanis clubs in the Peninsula area.

So I looked in last Thursday's Peninsula News and confirmed my suspicion that it was a Rotary conference. (Yeah, we have a Rotary club out here too.))

* * *

And then there are those silly photos of dames bussing winning golfers, marble-players, and yo-yo champions.

The silliest of all time was published recently. This showed two half-clad females nuzzling the chairman of something or other, one on each side. His fatuous grin would stop the courthouse clock, if any.

* * *

A bakery truck driver poked his head into Verna's Cafe and said: "Where's the Door of Hope Cafe? I've got some doughnuts for 'em but I can't find Bolinas Street."

World's First Seaplane Flight

The odd-looking contraption pictured above made aviation history in San Diego several decades ago In this tiny biplane Glenn H. Curtiss made the world's first seaplane flight, taking off from the Spanish Bight between Coronado and North Island and landing by the battleship USS Pennsylvania, anchored in the Coronado Roads.

This photograph, from the historical files of Union Title Insurance and Trust Company, shows Curtiss at the controls of his famous plane.

To pay tribute to this pioneer aviator, the aviation committee of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce staged a ceremony at North Island on the 20th anniversary of the historic flight.

A granite monument was placed in front of the Administration Building at the Naval Air Station bearing the inscription:

"Commemorating the World's First Seaplane Flight, January 26, 1911, by Glenn H. Curtiss. His seaplane was built here and flown from the waters of Spanish Bight, San Diego, California."

Extra Performance Of 'Cinderella' Planned February 9; Four Sold Out

Richard Lustig, president of San Diego Junior Theatre, announced that Junior Theatre can no longer take reservations for "Cinderella" for both Saturday afternoon performances, Feb. 2 and 9 and for both morning and afternoon shows on Feb. 12 (Lincoln's birthday).

Season ticket holders, only, will be honored at the door with seats, and are urged to call in immediately for their reservations.

Lustig said that "Cinderella" has created such a great public demand for reservations that it has been necessary to schedule an extra perforance which will be given Saturday at 10:30 a.m., Feb. 9. Those still wishing to see "Cinderella" should call BE-4-1447 for reservations for this Saturday morning performance only. There are still a few seats available for Sunday afternoon performances.

Lustig promises that the Junior Theatre's adaptation of "Cinderella" will follow the original fantasy that everyone loves so well. The title role is being played by Kerry Slattery, a Dana Junior High School Student.

John Burr, director of children's plays in Miami and Carmel is directing. Mrs. Charles L. Smith is director of choreography. Costuming is under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph I. Mothers To March Against Polio In O. B. And Point Loma Tonight

Twelve thousand mothers will march to "finish the fight" against polio in the annual Mothers March Thursday, Jan. 31, according to Mrs. Joseph Weitzen, chairman.

Mothers this year will distribute Salk vaccine record cards to every home, according to Mrs. Weitzen. "We hope this will be a reminder to every parent that the first step in finishing the fight against polio is to participate in the vaccine program." she said.

Mrs. J. Allen Hodges, former president of Ninth District PTA and secondary service chairman for the California Congress, will speak on Radio Station KSDO at 6:30 p.m. Thursday with last-minute instructions for the marching mothers.

The Mothers March in the past has contributed $38,000 toward the polio funds. However, in view of the increased need for funds in San Diego County, it is hoped that the receipts will be $60,000. Only $49,000 has been reported in the March of Dimes funds to date, John Anderson, campaign treasurer, revealed this week.

"This falls far short of our minimum need of $300,000," he said. "San Diego is one of the areas which has never raised enough money to cover its polio costs. We hope continued events throughout the County, culminating in the Mothers March of Jan. 31, will bring us over the top in our fight against polio."

John R. Raaka, 75, was rescued by firemen from his home at 5161 Brighton Ave. Tuesday after his television set burst into flames and started a fire in his bedroom.

Raaka, an invalid, and his crippled 13-year-old dog were alone in the house when the fire broke out at 2:17 p.m. He promptly telephoned the fire department; Battalion Chief J. N. Otten and Fire Companies 15 and 22 responded.

Camp Fire Girls In Home Stretch Of Peanut Sale

Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls in the Point Loma-Ocean Beach area and throughout the county will wind up their annual Peanut Sale this week-end.

As they enter the home stretch, the girls will make an all-out effort to wind up their project with record breaking sales, according to Mrs. James A. Wilson, 2719 Chatsworth, chairman for this area.

The vacuum packed cans of peanuts are being sold from booths set up in the business districts, as well as from house to house.

The 3000 young sales girls want to sell 120,000 cans of peanuts by Saturday night, which will earn for them more than $20,000. This figure, according to Mrs. Wilson, will provide the necessary means to improve and maintain Cap Wolahi in Cuyamaca Mountains and Camp Loligro in Balboa Park, the girls' two campsites. It will also mean additional funds to expand the Camp Fire Girls youth program throughout the county

Theatre parties, to be announced later, are being planned for all girls who have taken part in the sale.

Every member of every group which reaches its quota of two cases per girl, will receive certificates of merit.

Speech Arts Students Stage Plays At Dana Junior High Assemblies

"Abner Crane from Hayseed Lane" foiled the dastardly villian, Daniel J. Loophole, and his accomplice, Quigley W. Quack, in true melo-dramatic style and saved the farm of the Widow Rhodes as part of the assemblies at Dana Junior High School last Friday.

John Hickman played Abner, a right smart country-boy hero, and Gary Brotherton and Mike Clardy, the city slickers he foiled. Other members of the cast, all eighth-graders, included Dick Conklin, Virginia Sanderson, Hazel Frank, Carole Boland, Marion Thorum and Pat Hooper.

An original playlet, "Ashrella," was written by and starred Genie Almond. This travesty on Cinderella was greeted with much laughter by the separate audiences of eighth- and ninth-graders. Genie's cast included Karen Striebel, Jean Walters, Pat Benedict, Susan Martin, Pat Hooper, Mike Clardy, Bill Stegeman, Joe Campanella and Billy Hall.

For the seventh-grade assembly on Thursday the plays were entirely different. "The Ten-Penny Tragedy," a comedy of confusion over a lost dime at a high school, was performed by Sally Spafford, Clara Small, Kathy Chabot, Lee Ann Bergtold, Ronnie Holmes, Tommy Chapman and Sharon Rosel.

"Just What the Doctor Ordered" proved a brainy younger sister could come out of a no-date life into becoming the belle of the ball wtih the help of a young medical student. Cast starred Judy Fischer and Jerry Jensen who were assisted by Norma Barragan, Fay Morrison, Tom Benkner, Mike Lustig, Roger Klemm, Steve Fischer, Jon Blanc, Gary Brotherton, Mike Clardy, Dick Conklin, Ronnie Steele and John Hickman.

At all three assemblies a demonstration talk about snakes, using some live ones from his large collection, was made by Mike Langham assisted by Arthur Wolfson. Between plays, pantomine artistry was displayed by Parker Linekin, Bob Magness and Billy Hall at the dentist's office and by Jerry Jensen and Ronnie Holmes at the doctor's.

Master of ceremonies at the eighth and ninth-grade assemblies was Tommy Chapman, and Terry Love, Associated Student Body President, was MC at the seventh grade assembly.

All of the performers had competed with the 145 students in Mrs. Helen Scantlins' four speech art classes for the honor of performing in the assemblies. This activity terminated their one-semester eighth-grade courrse.

REHEARSAL—Dr. Walter Teutsch, CWU opera workshop director, helps Frances N. Pool (left) of Ocean Beach and Ann Cozens, Grossmont High School teacher, with a difficult passage. The workshop singers will present two operas this weekend at Point Loma High School auditorium.

CWU Opera Friday & Saturday

All school students will be admitted half-price to California Western University's modern opera production Feb. 1 and 2 at 8:30 p.m. in Pt. Loma High auditorium, Dr. Walter Teutsch, opera workshop director, announced this week.

He said the 50-cent admission applies to both public and private school students, as well as to college students.

Scheduled for production both evenings are "Savitri" and "Solomon and Balkis." Both operas will be sung in English, Dr. Teutsch said.

According to the director, "Savitri," based on a famous Indian epic poem, has an "eloquent and melodic score." "Solomon and Balkis" he described as "a fascinating combination of expressive melody and rhythmic vitality. The libretto was adapted from one of Rudyard Kipling's "Just So Stories," entitled "The Butterfly That Stamped."

Dr. Teutsch said the student price is being offered to give all youngsters interested in music the opportunity of sharing in an evening's full fare of modern opera.

"Such works are not too frequently performed," he said, "yet modern operas are as important to the development of the opera form as are the traditional classic works. Becoming acquainted with modern opera is a vital part in developing a well-rounded music appreciation."

The "Savitri" cast consists of Joanne Regenhardt and Frances Poole, alternating in the title role; Clifford Simmons in the role of Satyavan, her husband; and Stephen Neavill, playing Death.

Starring in "Solomon and Balkis" will be Dorothy Granger and Mrs. Pool, alternating as Balkis; Stephen Neavill as Solomon; Clifford Simmons as Butterfly; Frances Nielsen as Butterfly's wife; Carrol Prasser and Lula Pulliam, alternating as Egyptian Queen.

FRONTIER SCOUTS—Fess Parker and Jeff York lead the wagon train into dangerous Pawnee country in this scene from "Westward Ho The Wagons!"

'Westward Ho The Wagons!' Starts At Strand Theatre In O. B. Today

Kathleen Crowley holds the distinction of providing rugged Fess Parker with his first romantic interest in "Westward Ho The Wagons!" Walt Disney's sweeping story of frontier adventure along the Oregon Trail.

The production, filmed in CinemaScope and Color by Technicolor, will be shown at the Strand Theatre in Ocean Beach today through Tuesday, Feb. 5.

Kathleen, a blue-eyed coleen from Green Bank, N. J., plays a pioneer girl who falls in love with Parker while making a dangerous continental crossing by wagon train.

She brings fine dramatic skill to the role. Kathleen studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and the Group Theatre in New York. She starred in numerous television productions before launching her Hollywood career. Walt Disney chose her from among dozens of candidates for the feminine lead in "Westward Ho The Wagons!"

Dedicated to acting, Kathleen enjoys a quiet, interesting life.

"I like to read and learn about things I never before was aware of," she says. "I'm fond of music. My pet extravagance is food. I love food, and lots of it, but I have to watch my figure."

In "Westward Ho The Wagons!" which Buena Vista is releasing, Kathleen is starred with Fess Parker and Jeff York with a huge cast of featured players including David Stollery, Sebastian Cabot and George Reeves. The picture was directed by William Beaudine and produced for Disney by Bill Walsh.

It has a musical score composed by George Bruns and orchestrated by Edward Plumb. A big feature of the score is that it contains five new songs of western flavor.

In the event his car catches fire and he is caught without a fire extinguisher, the National Automobile Club advises the motorist to attempt to smother the blaze with dirt from the roadside. Sand also makes an excellent medium. Water will spread the flames.

Large Cherimoya Falls Off Tree

Cherimoya for anyone? Mrs. E. F. Bitzer, of 4672 Del Monte Ave., found one weighing almost three pounds under her tree recently.

A fruit belonging to the custard-apple family, the cherimoya is called ox-heart in the Bible,, probably because of its heart shape, said Mrs. Bitzer. It is green in color and has large black seeds. The tree is native to South America and, as a rule, does not do well in this coastal climate, she said.

Mrs. Bitzer reports that the fruit is usually small, not over one pound in weight, and tastes sweet. She serves the small ones in slices with lemon juice. When they grow larger, she cuts the fruit into wedges and serves with chocolate sauce.
